EXTERNAL COMPETITIONS GUIDE

For the first time the Griffith University Law Students' Association is making external competitions available to the students of Griffith University. Students (or teams) may apply for a specific competition or register a general expression of interest to compete. All applications will be sent through to the competitions team at the Griffith LSA to ensure that each student or team gets the chance to compete in their desired competition. Please note that the vast majority of these competitions only allow one team per university. These competitions are generally self-funded, however funding may be obtained on a case-by-case basis. All information must be verified by the applying student(s). Information may be altered from time to time and fees are subject to change. Competitions are constantly updated so check back frequently.

For 2016, applications are to be submitted 1 week before closing of registration.

Applications may be made through the link below:

FOREIGN DIRECT INVESTMENT MOOT

KEY DATES:

Due date of Fee: 31 May

Regionals: 16-19 August
2016 at Seoul National University

Global oral: 4-6 November
2016 at University of
Buenos Aires

BRIEF SUMMARY

Increasing international investment, the proliferation of international investment treaties, domestic legislation, and international investment contracts have contributed to the development of a new field of international law that defines obligations between host States and foreign investors and refers to internationalised procedures (e.g. ICSID) for resolving related disputes. These disputes involve not only vast sums, but also a panoply of rights, duties, and shifting objectives at the juncture of national and international law and policy. The FDI Moot helps future lawyers attain a practical understanding of these issues. The case and hearings offer a unique forum for academics and practitioners from around the world to discuss developments - and assess emerging talents. The FDI Moot spans approximately six months each year in two phases, written memorials for claimant and respondent and the hearing of oral argument.

Requirements:

Asia Pacific region teams may participate in the Global competition either: i. directly (limited to first 4 teams to complete registration) or ii. via the Seoul Regional, with the top Regional teams advancing to the Globals, and the top 2 teams receiving cash prizes to support this. Ad i) - Teams participating directly in the Globals will not be eligible for support from the Thomas Wälde Fund (TWF). Ad ii) - The top teams advancing from the Regional will be eligible for support from the TWF.

Costs:

The Registration Fee is EUR600 for teams from High and Very High HDI Countries, EUR400 for those from Medium HDI Countries and EUR200 for those from Low HDI Countries, based on the UNDP Human Development Index.

INTERNATIONAL HUMANITARIAN MOOT

THE COLLEGE OF LAW

KEY DATES:

Submission of Registration:

15 December 2016

Semester 1 - Griffith
University Open IHL Moot

Winter Break - ALSA (Red Cross) IHL Moot

BRIEF SUMMARY

Each team to present an oral submission to a mock international war crimes tribunal. This competition gives students a great opportunity to get more mooting experience within an area of law which they may not otherwise study. IHL is also known as the laws of war and armed conflict. As a set of rules and principles IHL aims, for humanitarian reasons, to limit the effects of armed conflict. The problem will be released two weeks prior to the first moot and the same problem is used for each round of the competition. Generally this competition is reserved for the winners of the Australian Law Students' Association IHL moot.

Requirements:

Teams (2-3 members) will present an oral submission which relates to an area of international humanitarian law. Teams must consist of a Senior and Junior Counsel. An Instructing Solicitor, who assists in legal research and preparation of the written submission, but does not speak during the oral submission is optional but encouraged. Team members may rotate positions during the course of the competition.

Costs:

2016

Submission deadline:
5pm, Sunday, 27 March
2016

Competition:
Friday, 1 April - Sunday 3
April 2016

BRIEF SUMMARY

Now in its third year, the Australian Private Law Moot is the first and only national mooting competition in Australia with private law as its subject area. Last year, nine teams from around the country, and one from the National University of Singapore, competed to a very high standard. The problem this year will focus on issues of equity and corporations law. Private law in particular is a core area of law that will be highly relevant to a future legal career, whether at the bar or in any other capacity.

Requirements:

If university interested in sending two teams, they must indicate this to relevant person. If you wish to apply for an equity grant, please do so by Tuesday, 16 February at 5pm. Decisions regarding equity grant applications will be communicated to applicants by Friday, 19 February. At present, the maximum grant is a full waiver of the registration fee, but [the moot coordinators] are investigating the possibility of offering more generous grants.

Costs:

$400 per team

MICHAEL KIRBY CONTRACT MOOT COMPETITION

KEY DATES:

28 September - 1 October
2015 in Melbourne

BRIEF SUMMARY

This mooting competition is unique as it allows for each university to submit up to three teams of four to compete. Consequently, the mooting opportunities are given to up to twelve students per university. Moreover, each team is allowed to moot four times in the general rounds. Students are provided with formative feedback to help them reflect on their performance and incrementally develop the relevant advocacy skills and their overall delivery of arguments. Lastly, to ensure its authenticity and relevance to students' learning, the moot problem is designed to closely resemble a real-life dispute and the moot judges are mainly practitioners. It is hoped that students who avail themselves of this opportunity will further develop fundamental lawyering skills including problem-solving, legal analysis and reasoning, legal research, factual investigation, communication (oral and written), organisation, management and teamwork. Ultimately, these skills will better equip all law graduates for further study and for their future careers.

Costs:

Registration fee: $600 including GST

Gala dinner: $65 including GST per person

BRIEF SUMMARY

The Administrative Appeals Tribunal National Mooting Competition plays a key role in promoting students' understanding of the nature of administrative law practice in the Tribunal. The moots, conducted over five rounds at both state or territory and national level, involve fact scenarios drawn from a variety of administrative law areas including immigration and citizenship, social security, veterans' affairs, workers' compensation and taxation. Each round of the competition concerns a different area of jurisdiction and is adjudicated by Members of the Tribunal. The objectives of the competition are twofold: to expose law students to the unique merits review jurisdiction of the Tribunal thereby highlighting the differences between Tribunal practice and procedure and that of the courts; and to encourage law students to have an interest in pursuing administrative law practice upon completion of their legal studies. The moots are necessarily abridged versions of Tribunal hearings. One week before the moot, teams will be provided with a fact scenario. For the purpose of the moot, teams can assume that evidence has already been given in relation to those facts. The actual moot will last approximately 1.5-2 hours. Each team will present only closing submissions (30 minutes for the Applicant team and 40 minutes for the Respondent team) and the Applicant team will present a submission in reply (10 minutes).

Requirements:

All law students enrolled in Australian universities are invited to register. Students are required to form teams comprising two advocates who act as senior counsel and junior counsel. A third team member may also be appointed who can assist the advocates but will not be permitted to speak during the moot. Rotations allowed.

Costs:

The 2016 grand final will be held in Melbourne. The Tribunal will provide a travel and accommodation allowance where necessary to enable teams to participate in the grand final.

INTERNATIONAL CLIENT CONSULTATION

KEY DATES:

Competition:
27-30 April 2016 by the University of Windsor in Ontario, Canada.

Registration Deadline:
Closed 1 April 2016

BRIEF SUMMARY

The Competition simulates a law office consultation in which two law students, acting as lawyers, are presented with a client matter. The students are given a brief written memorandum that identifies the general nature of the client's problem before the interviews are held. The students conduct an interview with a person playing the role of the client. Students are expected to elicit the relevant information from the client, explain the relevant laws, present the client with their options, and assist the client to select their preferred resolution. The interview with the client is then followed by a post-consultation period during which the students analyze the interview and discuss the work to be undertaken. The interview and post-consultation period last a total of 45 minutes. The students are evaluated against specific criteria that emphasize the use of listening, questioning, planning, and analytical skills in a lawyer/client interview.

Costs:

It is conducted by City University of Hong Kong in association with the China International Economic and Trade Arbitration Commission (CIETAC), UNCITRAL - Regional Centre for Asia and the Pacific (RCAP) and Curtin Law School. In each round teams will be engaged in both mediation and arbitration. In the moot, arbitration will be conducted first followed by mediation. At the conclusion of the arbitral hearing the two legal counsels for each side will divide their duties during the mediation with one acting as client and the other as attorney/legal counsel. At the end of arbitration the two sides will be given extra but separate facts which they can use in mediation. Those facts will be known to the judges but the third student who acts a mediator will not know those extra facts. A third student from each university competing will act as an arbitrator and mediator for a different moot in which two other universities are competing. This student will serve initially as an arbitrator (one of three) sitting as the arbitral panel. Then the student will personally conduct the mediation that follows the arbitration.

XI INTERNATIONAL LAW COMP

KEY DATES:

Preliminary applications
are due by 2 May 2016.

BRIEF SUMMARY

International Law Competition “Youth for Peace” is an annual contest for students from different countries. The participants are expected to demonstrate excellent knowledge of international humanitarian law, international public law and human rights law, as well as ability to adapt to the changing environment. The Competition provides students with an opportunity to enrich and extend their knowledge in the sphere of international humanitarian law through participation in the simulated armed conflict. In previous ten years the Competition has seen student teams from more than 35 countries around the world.

MANFRED LACHS SPACE LAW MOOT

KEY DATES:

Registration for the 2017 competition will close in Jan 2017

Held in Paris, France

BRIEF SUMMARY

The first Manfred Lachs Moot Court Competition was held in 1992, when the Association of US Members of the IISL (AUSMIISL) invited Georgetown University, George Washington University and the American University to each send two teams to participate in a moot court competition during the first World Space Congress held in Washington, D.C., USA in 1992. In 1993, the European Regional Round was created and, after the death of Judge Manfred Lachs, the competition was renamed in his honour and memory. In 2000, the Asia-Pacific Regional Round was created and in 2011, the African Round. Participation in the Competition has steadily increased over the years, and now sees a large number of teams from leading law schools in each of the regions. Currently, around 60 teams register each year to participate in the Manfred Lachs Space Law Moot Court Competition and numbers continue to grow. The IISL is looking at expanding the competition to Latin and South America in the future.

PRICE MEDIA LAW MOOT

KEY DATES:

The competition takes place during March/April and registration for the 2017 competition will open in late 2016.

BRIEF SUMMARY

Established by the Programme in Comparative Media Law & Policy at the University of Oxford in 2008, the Price Media Law Moot Court Programme aims to foster and cultivate interest in freedom of expression issues and the role of the media and information technologies in societies around the world. The annual Price Moot Court Competition challenges students to engage in comparative research of legal standards at the national, regional and international levels, and to develop their arguments (in written and oral forms) on cutting-edge questions in media and ICT law. The Competition is currently comprised of five Regional Rounds (South Asia, Asia-Pacific, South East Europe, Middle East and Americas) and the selective International Rounds held in Oxford, gathering participants from countries as diverse as Australia, Belgium, Brazil, China, Egypt, Ethiopia, Greece, India, Lebanon, the Philippines, Serbia, Trinidad and Tobago, the UK and the USA.

NLSTIAM MOOT

KEY DATES:

The moot takes place during May and registration for the 2017 competition will open in late 2016.

BRIEF SUMMARY

The NLS Trilegal International Arbitration Moot (NLSIAM) has, since its inception in 2008, attempted to raise the bar for Moot Court Competitions in India. It has the distinction of being the only moot in India which gives students the opportunity to argue before a simulated Arbitral Tribunal, populated by expert arbitrators and practitioners. The moot has steadily garnered a reputation as one which deals with the most cutting edge issues in contemporary arbitration law. Through previous editions of NLSTIAM, participants and judges have had the opportunity to explore issues such as the recovery of costs, damages for loss and reputation, unjust enrichment and jurisdiction of the tribunal, arbitrator bias, confidentiality, and also deal with other contemporary developments in the field of law. Further, the moot provides an excellent forum for students, academicians and practitioners to come together. Previous editions of the moot have seen some of the biggest and most respected names in the field.

WORLD HUMAN RIGHTS MOOT COMPETITION

KEY DATES:

Registration for the 2017 competition will open in February 2017

BRIEF SUMMARY

The Nelson Mandela World Human Rights Moot Court Competition is an international human rights law moot court competition. In 2009 the Centre for Human Rights, Faculty of Law, University of Pretoria, in collaboration with the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights (Regional Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights in Southern Africa (ROSA)), organised the inaugural World Human Rights Moot Court Competition. Participation in the Competition is open to students from all universities in the world. The Competition involves a written round after which teams are selected for the oral round. Teams argue a hypothetical case on issues of international human rights law, as if they were before a hypothetical world Human Rights Court, on the basis of the International Bill of Human Rights and other applicable (such as regional) human rights instruments. The Competition takes place annually around 18 July, which is Nelson Mandela's birthday.
